

Syllabus

The GAIL eligibility assessment analyses the skills of the aspirant in six sections: Numerical Ability, Data Interpretation, Critical & Analytical Reasoning, Reading Comprehension and Verbal Ability. It is also a test of time management.

1. Numerical Ability

Some of the core concepts in maths and quant subjects are:

- Percentages and its applications
- Ratio and its applications
- Algebra
- Numbers and its applications
- Geometry and its applications

2. Data Interpretation Section

Problems related to organized and unorganized data are quite common in this section. Core topics are as follows:

- Table
- Bar
- Pie Charts
- Line graphs etc.

3. Critical Reasoning (and its numerous applications)

- Evaluation of Arguments
- Recognition of Assumption
- Cause and Effect
- Deduction
- Inference etc.

4. Analytical Reasoning Section

Important topics under AR are:

- Blood Relations
- Direction Sense
- Matrix based Puzzles
- Ranking Arrangements
- Data Structures
- Series
- Coding-Decoding
- Clocks and Calendars etc.

5. Reading Comprehension

Questions will be based on the short easy to understand passages.

6. Verbal Ability

Prominent topics in this section are:

- Grammar
- Vocabulary
- Para jumbles
- Sentence Correction
- Spot the Error
- Sentence Formation
- Sentence Equivalence
- Fill in the Blanks - Grammar Based etc.